LUCA TURRINI

(1962) – Light Design & Art Director

Formazione di estrazione tecnica, sviluppa la passione per l'illuminazione fin dai primi anni nel mondo del lavoro.

Inizia in Sirrah, azienda leader negli anni '80 per industrializzazione e design di illuminazione.

Dallo stretto contatto con grandi maestri, architetti e professionisti, quali Emilio Ambasz, Dino Gavina, Kazuide Takahama, Renè Kemna, King & Miranda, artefici della ampia creatività di quegli anni e precursori dei successivi, sviluppa sensibilità e grande attitudine al design.

Conosce Bruno Munari e collabora alla realizzazione delle "Sculture da viaggio" per Sirrah, opere in edizione limitata.

Alla iGuzzini illuminazione con il loro staff tecnico matura specifica esperienza nell'illuminazione tecnica e per esterni, entra poi in un importante gruppo commerciale di distribuzione, sviluppa il concetto della progettazione illuminotecnica intesa come assistenza al progettista, diviene "opinion leader" del settore luce e persona di riferimento tecnico/artistico del gruppo. Crea e cura l'house organ aziendale e lo redige in prima persona. Sviluppa un nuovo concept per l'illuminazione degli esterni, trasportando il concetto di "cestello" (batterie di proiettori tradizionalmente per illuminazione scenica di interni) in outdoor. Nel 2008 realizza il Format Design Studio, struttura professionale di progettazione illuminotecnica, tra i primi studi in Italia con lo scopo di supportare i progettisti, strutturisti, architetti e dare un valore aggiunto alla progettazione architettonica unita all'illuminotecnica.

Sempre in contatto con le migliori aziende di settore affina le proprie capacità personali ed illuminotecniche, condividendo esperienze a livello internazionale.

Il Design rimane materia fondamentale di studio e passione, che gli permette di disegnare molteplici prodotti, proposti e prodotti oggi da aziende leader di settore. Ottiene anche diversi riconoscimenti tra i quali due RED DOT DESIGN AWARD (2009 e 2010) con ARTEMIDE.

Unitamente all'attività di progettazione illuminotecnica, collabora con aziende di settore analizzando le esigenze del mercato per soddisfarle con le nuove proposte.

Endowed with a technical background, he developed a passion for illumination ever since embarking on his professional career. He began his career at Sirrah, a leading company throughout the 1980s specialising in lighting industrialisation and design. By cooperating closely with renowned masters, architects and professionals such as Emilio Ambasz, Dino Gavina, Kazuide Takahama, Renè Kemna, King & Miranda - the inventors of the sweeping creativity characterising those years and the forerunners of the successive era - he developed his sensitivity and distinctive flair for design. He then met Bruno Munari and collaborated in the creation of the "Sculture da viaggio" ("pocket sculptures") project for Sirrah, a limited-edition work.

Working with the technical staff at iGuzzini Illuminazione enabled him to acquire specific experience in technical lighting for outdoor applications, before moving to an important commercial group specialising in distribution: here he developed a lighting design approach based on assistance to the designer, and became an opinion leader in the lighting sector and the group's technical/artistic reference. He created the company's house organ, which he also managed and personally edited. He then developed a new concept for outdoor illumination by adopting - for outdoor applications - the system based on batteries of spotlights traditionally used for scenic indoor illumination.

In 2008 he created the Format Design Studio, a professional lighting design facility which was among the first studios in Italy aimed at supporting designers, structurists and architects, while enhancing architectural design with lighting solutions.

By maintaining close relations with the foremost companies in the sector, he was able to refine his own personal abilities and lighting design skills while sharing experiences at an international level. Design continues to be a fundamental subject of his studies and passion and, as a result, he has designed multiple products that have been proposed and manufactured by the leading companies in the sector. He has also received several acknowledgements, including the RED DOT DESIGN AWARD (2009 and 2010) with ARTEMIDE.

Alongside his lighting design activity, he also collaborates with companies in the sector in analysing market needs and proposing new solutions for satisfying them.
